As part of the human experience, within our bodies is a vast network of propensities. These propensities can however be transformed. In this current paradigm, the female body has been operating under the power of certain rules all supported and held in place by belief systems. While science continues to edge closer to deeper truths about the human potential it is clear that we do not have to wait 100 years to begin to change old outdated collective programs. (This is all relevant to men as well. This is about the positive and the negative charge frequencies identified as male and female or man and woman)

For the first time in 2012, I presented a workshop focused on the manner in which the current "female" body program is wired and how we can begin to change individually. (Here we are in 2020 and this workshop series is more relevant than ever!)

Although I have always operated from the perspective of "I am a being"; however, women and their bodies have been under the thumb of limiting programs and beliefs for perhaps thousands of years. Much of what we believe about our bodies has been fed to us throughout the ages by others for the purpose of securing controlled beliefs born out of fear. Why? Perhaps because If we knew what we were capable of and of the control that we do have over the inner function of our own bodies it would drastically affect the current paradigm on all levels. Just as there is a female program there is a male program all genetically rooted. Simply thinking positively does not unravel us from these programs. We must better understand the design and what the potentials are if they are to be transcended.

This was not a workshop about the sacred feminine as presented in much of the new age movement. This workshop was not delivered with that kind of packaging. Neither will you be pumped up about the greatness of women. This is about something much bigger. This is about the science of unlocking yourself as a woman and changing the programs and codes that the biology is wired to! Our longevity and youth are sacrificed at the cost of these dumbing down programs running rampant from one generation to the next. You can create a new paradigm for it matters not what is out there but rater what is being reflected from within you.

This began as a two-part workshop that promised to be anything but typical. However, 2 became 6 as the unveiling began! Participants asked for two additional sessions and before you know we were at six sessions. A very powerful experience!

WHO IS THIS WORKSHOP FOR?

For those who are ready to let go of who or what you thought you were and just maybe you will have the courage to express your life in a more unlimited manner whereby impacting a ripple of change in the current reality design. Ultimately there is a sacredness to the human experience and in order to truly embrace that sacred design, we must crack the code which has cradled us in a state of sleep.

WHY WAS IT ORIGINALLY A TWO-PART WORKSHOP?

The workshop was intended to expose this database of liberating information tucked away deep within us. At the end of the workshop, attendees were presented with stimulating assignments as a way of unlocking and cementing these awakened concepts over the days to follow. The information would be quite intensely unique but grounded in science, observation, personal experiments, and inner knowing.

To simply present these kinds of information without follow up support would be a disservice in completely embodying these possibilities. Part 2 was intended to allow insights to be shared, examined, and clarified. Stepping away and pondering the information knowing that there is a follow-up or that there is support or that that you are not alone in changing your paradigm may encourage one to open up without resistance to the possibilities. A new version of woman is then born!
