

How to Reset your body and override the default programs - series

Price: $125.00

Short Description

Sonia's workshop/webinar- Aging and decaying is an adaptation; cyclic default programs

Description

This 4 part series was a result of the Redet your body webinar which took place on September 24, 2016

The body and mind are a malleable technology!

But why live longer? Define longer!

Is it possible to override these cyclic default programs? Is there a formula?

We went even deeper as I shared my discoveries and self-experiments, supported by scientific findings. Longevity and timelessness is a possibility in the human game

There are many human experiences that are perhaps no longer necessary but over time these experiences became normalized. We adapt and accept the perspective of reality we are born into. When nothing around us screams otherwise then acceptance seem to be the only way to go. But what if that's not the case. It is evident that each day scientists, archeologists and historians claim to discover new interpretations of reality. We must begin to know that it is ok and within our right to bend reality to bend time and space.

Reality wants to be shaped and molded into unlimited possibilities. The fear of reaching for what we believe to be the impossible drives us into an acceptance of the way things are.

I continue to experiment with overriding these cyclic programs. It has become increasingly clear to me that it is possible to do so as did those in the workshop. We opened up the conversation and began to unlock those possibilities from inside each of us. We spoke about the benefits of doing so. Life is not just about dying, sure nothing dies but there are locked away truths coded in our DNA! Come join us!

Just a few of the topics discussed and beyond this

- The body's needs
- The body's relationship to the cycles
- The technology of consciousness
- The Great pyramid (as it relates)
- The calendar as it relates to the greater network
- Freedom from an overdose of methods
- The role of diet
- The default programs
- What does resetting really mean?
- What's the science behind these possibilities? This I will share using visuals where necessary
- Makers/creators, engineers and god
- Engineering the human belief game for the default experience
- Whats the science behind these possibilities? This I will share using visuals where necessary
- Makers/creators, engineers and god
- Engineering the human belief game for the default experience

We will discussed so much more! We must introduce these concepts into our reality in order for them to be an undoubted possibility
